

QUALITY MANAGEMENT

Stop chasing quality actions and evidence.

Keep the responsible person, agreed action and recorded checks visible so your team can review the evidence before closure.

01

Clear ownership

Keep the responsible person and agreed action visible to the people doing the work.

02

Evidence for closure

Review recorded verification results and findings before making the closing decision.

03

Context within reach

Connect relevant records and supporting information to the issue your team is resolving.

A CLEARER WAY TO WORK

1

Name the owner

2

Record the action

3

Check effectiveness

4

Review before closure

The decision belongs to your team. The evidence stays with the work.

Illustrative workflow - discuss your scope in a walkthrough.

Bring one quality problem.

Let's walk through how your team could work with Azora.

A practical starting point.

The same inspection finding appears again. The team needs to address it and review whether the corrective action worked.

FOR QUALITY LEADERS, PROCESS OWNERS AND TEAMS RESOLVING RECURRING ISSUES

01Name the owner

Identify the person responsible for taking the issue forward.

02Record the action

Capture the agreed corrective action and who will carry it out.

03Check effectiveness

Retain each verification round, including sample size, findings and named verifier.

04Review before closure

Bring the action and recorded checks together to support the closing decision.

A CLOSER LOOK INSIDE AZORA

Round 1 · Inspection

Sample 50 Pass 90% (45/50)

5 samples missed the acceptance criteria. Refine the setup and repeat the check.

Sep 03, 2026

Alex Chen

Round 2 · Inspection

Sample 50 Pass 98% (49/50)

After setup refinement: 49 of 50 samples met criteria across three incoming lots.

Sep 08, 2026

Priya Shah

Keep the checks, findings and reviewers with the quality issue. Actual Azora interface · fictional sample records, not customer results

Bring one quality problem.

Let's walk through how your team could work with Azora.